TAKES CAR, CRASH! GIRL TRIES SUICIDE

A 15-year-old Niles girl took her father's car without permission last Sunday, was involved in a three-car collision, and then tried to shoot herself.

The girl, whose name was withheld, lives in the Nursery Tract. The crash took place at 11 a.m. and resulted in minor damage to two other motorists. The Niles girl was not cited by officers, however.

Treated for shock at Fairmont hospital, the girl returned home and immediately shot herself in the upper chest with a .22-caliber rifle, an older sister said.

This time she was removed to Highland Hospital, where she was reported recovering later in the week.

CC'S OKEH BONDS FOR HOSPITAL

Centerville and Irvington endorsed the $1,250,000 Washington Township Hospital bonds this week, but the Irvington okeh was not accorded until after some hot words by a local doctor.

"I think the hospital board violated their trust," charged Dr. E. M. Grimmer. "They were appointed only to do business with the federal and state agencies, and now they're shouldering it on the local taxpayers."

Lester S. Whitaker of Niles, chairman of the board, replied:

"There wasn't any inhibition on how we were to get the funds when the district was formed in 1948. For 3½ years, we tried to get federal aid. Then last November, the chief of the federal bureau of hospitals told us 'we didn't have a Chinaman's chance' to get anything for at least five years, and maybe not then."

Whitaker stressed this possibility is even more remote now, since all such funds are being used to repair Bakersfield 'quake damage.

"We realize if the hospital is to be built, it is we taxpayers who must build it," Whitaker declared.

He cited the need for the institution, as recognized in letters from every doctor in the Township. He said the project will cost the average home-owner only $4.80 a year more than he pays now.

Ed Enos exhibited charts showing the present 20-cent hospital district tax will rise 15.7 cents the first year to pay interest and bond redemption, then will fall as the bonds are paid off.

Architect Larue Sorenson replied to a query from Dr. Grimmer that the building will cost $24 per square foot, that fixed equipment will cost 7 per cent of the building's cost, and that furniture and supplies "will cost another $2500 per bed."

The structure, on Santos Road, is planned for 50 beds initially with room for expansion to 150 or 180 beds.

Hospital Director A. E. Alameda declared:

1. Taxes have gone up, but so have property values.

2. Local residents' lives are endangered now because doctors here have to spend so much time at outside hospitals that often not

Niles Gravel Storm Stirs Zone Demand from Chamber

Prompted by the current gravel-pit dispute, a move to zone at least a portion of Niles was taking shape this week.

The move came at the Niles Chamber of Commerce meeting on Tuesday. The civic organization asked the County Planning Commission to:

1. Delay action on a pit petition by Rhodes & Jamieson until Army Engineer and county flood surveys are finished, and

2. Start proceedings to introduce restrictive zoning against "undesirable" industries along Alameda Creek between Niles and Decoto.

Sparking the motion were Vernon Ellsworth, Walter Chrysler and John Brahmst. It was the first move toward zoning since an unsuccessful try in 1948.

The action followed reading of a letter from Mrs. Roland Bendel of Adobe Acres, one of a group which thus far has been able to block the R&J project south of the steel mill.

"Gravel pits are detrimental to a community, along with pig farms and junk yards," Mrs. Bendel declared. "You should actively support Adobe Acres' opposition to . . . someone who is proposing to damage your community."

To R&J's argument that it will landscape the pit when all gravel has been extracted, thus making an "attractive recreation area," Mrs. Bendel retorted:

"Niles has enough pits now to develop a recreation program that would do justice to Chicago."

She also charged "Chamber members run for cover whenever a man like George Jamieson breathes the words 'future payrolls'." However, she added, no desirable industry would locate next to a gravel pit.

The Niles Chamber has voiced official opposition to the R&J proposal, and the Planning Commission once turned it down. Supervisor Chester E. Stanley bucked it back for a re-hearing however, and this is set for October 15.

The most recent letter from Ellsworth, as secretary of the Chamber, maintains the opposing stand, but adds if the planners "see fit" to change their minds, Niles wants R&J held to their promises of landscaping, safety provisions, and the like.

At Tuesday's session, Chrysler branded gravel pits "fly-by-night enterprises, here today and gone tomorrow, leaving the community nothing but an unsightly hole."

Dr. T. C. Wilson called R&J's recreation-area pledge "a lot of hay."

Brahmst and Clifford K. Dennis interposed that the trouble could have been avoided if the Township had "a master plan" for zoning of industries, residences and farms.

Then Ellsworth suggested the Planning Commission be asked to delay its decision until a currently-projected $15,000 survey of the creek is completed by the Army Engineers, and until one is finished by the Alameda County Flood Control District.

Chrysler added the plea for zoning of the area, and the motion passed with a round of "ayes."

Brahmst demanded why Niles has not been zoned, and Ellsworth recalled that four years ago opposition from owners of highway frontage blocked it.

'We should get started," Brahmst replied. "This area is growing too fast to sit by."

NEWARK CIVIL DEFENSE AIR POST TO CLOSE FOR LACK OF VOLUNTEERS

This ultimatum was delivered—with a blast at civilian apathy—to Township residents today by Ken Foster, supervisor of the post.

"If Washington Townshippers can't get up any more interest in protecting their own homes, then we'll just have to sit back and say 'It can't happen to us'," Foster declared.

He said Chief Observer Paul Woodruff has been manning the post almost single-handed in the past two weeks due to lack of volunteers, and that it has had to shut down except in daylight hours as a result. Unless enough observers sign up this week-end, Foster warned:

"I'm going to inform the Air Force that as of Monday morning the observation post at Newark will be closed down completely, and that Woodruff and I will hand in our resignations that day."

Foster reminded the post was supposed to—and did—go on 24-hour-a-day operations July 14, when the Air Force placed all such towers in the U. S. on a full-time basis to counter the Soviet air threat.

Since then, Foster said, he has been trying to recruit a minimum of 84 spotters so nobody would have to serve more than one 4-hour shift each week. Instead, he added, the roster has dwindled until scarcely more than Woodruff, Foster and a handful of assistant supervisors remain.

The post was activated in February, 1951, as an auxiliary to the nation's radar net, and is designed to detect low-flying planes.

"If the Ground Observer Corps does not operate," said Foster, "the Air Defense Command will not operate because the radar has to have the help of plane spotters to give complete coverage."

The tower is located at Wells and Walnut. Woodruff can be reached at Newark 3-3757.

Newark Zoning Oct. 15

October 15 is the date for the initial hearing on a proposal to re-zone a strip of Southern Pacific property on Cherry Avenue in Newark from residential to industrial use.

At the same time, a tract nearer town and across the road is up for rezoning from industrial to residential in a swap proposed last month by the Newark Chamber of Commerce.

The Alameda County Planning Cammission will hear both proposals on October 15 and again on November 19, according to Gordon Cotton, who has been following the issue for the Chamber of Commerce.

ST. JAMES EPISCOPAL CHURCH OBSERVES 85TH ANNIVERSARY OF CONSECRATION

"I declare this church consecrated," said William Kip, first Episcopal bishop of California. The year was 1867, the place: Centerville.

St. James' Episcopal Church of Centerville last Sunday followed as nearly as possible this service of consecration, and in so doing celebrated its 85th anniversary.

Centerville was a cluster of farm houses when St. James' vestrymen raised the few hundred dollars needed to erect the present wooden-Gothic structure. Floods plagued the land, and so did cattle rustlers. (Four of the latter were hanged.)

Many of the prominent parishioners, such as Capt. George Bond, had made money freighting produce to San Francisco on sailboats from Alvarado. Capt. Bond himself—by this time a storekeeper and postmaster—bought the first organ and paid $300 to have it shipped 'round the Horn. He also gave the lot where the church now stands, on Main Street north of Thornton.

Before the church was erected, Episcopalians met in the Presbyterian Church, which had been built in 1853. The first minister was the Rev. S. S. Etheridge of San Jose.

After Bishop Kip consecrated the church, 17 persons were baptized, including seven children apiece from the Blacow and Stokes families.

In 1867, the year of consecration, the Church Register—still preserved—showed 27 families. Many of them are still represented in Township affairs: Bond, Bonner, Overacker, Pangborn, Trefry, Marston, Todd, Barry, Ewart, Blacow, Cameron, Frick, Harvey, Herrick, Stevenson, Tobin, Tyson, McKeever, Caldwell, Chadbourne, Stokes, Emerson, Stevens, Mosher.

The church had its ups and downs, but the faithful nucleus of parishioners kept it afloat through the hard times. Ministers were sometimes paid only $30 a month, and 'boarded 'round" the parish.

A rectory was built (for $2312) in 1912. A Guild was organized about 1886, and a Men's Club in 1921.

Starting with the Rev. Mr. Etheridge, 25 clergymen have served St. James'. Two of the longest terms were established by the Rev. T. G. Crump (1888-1901) and by the Rev. W. J. Attwood (1925--940).

Mr. Crump, incidentally, was a colorful divine who on the occasion of one Memorial Day caused the chancel to be decorated as a grave, and had two soldiers fire a volley in the air after first warning his parishioners they might go outside if musketry disturbed them.

Present rector of St. James' is Rev. Arthur Freeman, who last Sunday delivered the commemorative sermon. Mr. Attwood, now in retirement, sent regrets that due to ill health he was unable to attend.

NO CONTAGION

For the third straight week, Washington Township has been free of contagious disease, according to County Health Officer James Malcolm.

3 SISTERS HURT IN CORNERS CRASH

Three 'teen-age Decoto sisters were hurt, two of them seriously, in a collision Monday night at Machado's Corners.

In Providence Hospital with a fractured skull and collarbone are Judith Blurton, 17, the driver; and her sister, Joan, 15, who suffered a fractured left thigh and shoulder.

Barbara told officers the girls were returning from registration for evening high school in Centerville, had missed the turn, and were turning in the highway when Gong's car, which they did not see, struck them broadside.

NEWARK REC' DISTRICT

Next step in formation of a recreation district at Newark is up to the Board of Supervisors. William Hildebrand, chairman of a committee to create the district, this week took a petition containing 269 signatures to the Board, which now must set a date for public hearing on the project.

IN THE HOSPITAL

Two prominent Township men are in hospitals for surgery. Robert Blacow, manager of the Central Bank in Niles, is in Alameda Hospital; and Warren Gravestock, vice-principal of Washington High School, is in Palo Alto Hospital.

HEAT HITS YOU, BUT HELPS CROPS

This week's heat-wave was a trial to most Washington Townshippers, but to growers and canners it was a real boon.

Temperatures of 99 on Tuesday, 100 on Wednesday, and nearly that yesterday ripened tomatoes faster than usual and brought them to Centerville's F. E. Booth Cannery in above-normal quantities, according to Manager Morris O'Brien. Five hundred employees are working at Booth.

O'Brien said the cannery is about two-thirds through with the season pack. He estimated the total pack at 350,000 cases, or seventy-five per cent of last year. The season ends November 1.

At Alvarado's Holly Sugar mill, Supt. J. A. Ratekin said the heat was "just what we'd have ordered," and is increasing sugar content in local beets. Holly is one-third through the season's cutting and is employing about 300 persons.

WATER 'DEAL' WINS A COUNTER-OFFER

A "compromise offer" from the Alameda County Water District produced a counter-offer from 18 free water-using Ellsworth Orchard homeowners Wednesday.

The "compromise" plan came from Jack Prouty, district director, and was aired at an impromptu meeting Prouty called in his home in the tract. Prouty said the district will:

1. Credit each of the 90 homeowners with 125 gallons of free water under pressure for the next 20 years.

2. Assume title to the free water rights in return after then.

Jack P. Lee, one of the Orchardites to whom the offer was first made, indicated the offer was unsatisfactory.

Al Gamba, another Orchard dweller, counter-proposed:

1. The District should turn over the 125-gallon-per-day credit to the Citizens' Utilities Company, "whose rates are much lower."

2. The Orchard then would take water from the private company, and would be credited in turn for 125 free gallons per day.

Prouty said he will transmit the offer to the other directors. He also said he will call other meetings of other tract-dwellers.

Members of the 18-home group present also decided to meet with the Water directors, and with C. K. Dennis of the Citizens' Utilities.

Lee said he cannot speak for the other 90 homeowners involved, but, speaking as an individual, he declared:

"They're just offering us something we've already got, then taking it away after 20 years."

The issue has been in controversy for several months, with the district contending in a series of letters that it can no longer supply the Orchard with free water under the ancient rights granted the Ellsworth Estate, which subdivided the tract.

ASK TRACTS TO PAY TAX COSTS

Lee S. Williams demanded a resolution to the Board of Supervisors asking that body to "collect a fund from big subdividers to help pay for schools, sewers, hospitals and all the things that they are forcing us to build."

Williams said the money should be placed in a fund, "say $100 for each lot sold," and later distributed to public agencies to keep property taxes low.

"One-eighth of our property already is exempt," Williams said, citing a quoted figure of $4,000,000 out of the Township's $32,000,000. "And there's a proposal on the November ballot to exempt even more."

Other chamber members appeared willing to discuss the topic, but President William Clark decreed it would be postponed until next week.

HILLVIEW 'TOM' NABBED BY LAW

The Peeping Tom of Hillview this week turned out to be—an 18-year old neighbor youth.

The youth, Manuel Aldana, cannery worker of 1259 Carlyle, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff C. E. Cook—also a Hillview Crester — as Aldana prowled around a neighbor's house.

Hillview Crest housewives have reported nearly a dozen cases of prowlers to the local substation in recent weeks.

Aldana appeared Tuesday before Judge E. A. Quaresma. He was charged with vagrancy under the "peeping Tom" law. When the youth pleaded guilty, Judge Quaresma gave him 60 days in jail, suspended on condition that Aldana return at once to his family in Texas.

NEW RESERVE DEPUTIES ON PATROL

A total of 31 Washington Township Sheriff's Reserves will ride patrol with regular officers during October as part of the advanced law enforcement training required by Sheriff H. P. Gleason, county civil defense director.

Capt. Richard E. Condon, commanding Washington Township substation, said the October 7 patrol stint would be waived for the reserves' regular platoon meeting at the County Building at 8 p.m. "Juvenile Problems" will be discussed by Sheriff's Lt. Richard Foudy.

Platoon meetings henceforth for the Township group will be held on first Tuesdays, instead of first Mondays, to permit members to attend any reserve school sessions scheduled on those evenings as a "refresher" lesson. The new reserve programs are held each Monday from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at Washington Union High School.

The deputized volunteers, who were graduated last February as reserves at Santa Rita, will ride twice a month from 6 p.m. to midnight, according to Captain Condon.

At Pomona Fair

Three Washington Township vegetable growers attended the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona last week-end: the Shikano brothers of Centerville and Sam Yamanaka of Alvarado. The three growers' entries at the State Fair won more than fifty prizes.

If transportation facilities are improved, the local growers said they might consider making an entry of vegetables at the Los Angeles fair in 1953. At present, the long haul and delay in Los Angeles makes it impractical to ship local products south.

Diva in San Jose

Rise Stevens, glamorous star of the Metropolitan Opera, and of concert, screen, radio, television and recordings as well, will be the featured attraction at the opening of San Jose's Seventh Annual Concert Series on Monday night, October 6, in the San Jose civic auditorium.

Following Rise Stevens in the San Jose auditorium comes "The Country Girl" on October 19, with Robert Young, Dane Clark and Nancy Kelly. Tickets for both events are on sale at the Denny-Watrous box office, San Jose auditorium.

INNOCENT PLEA IN CAR 'CHASE' CASE

Hoover C. "Herb" Wilson, one-legged Niles card dealer, this week pleaded not guilty to charges he tried to run down a local taxi operator.

Wilson appeared before Judge E. A. Quaresma on charges of assault with a deadly weapon—his car—upon Bernie Vail last week.

After his plea, October 7 was set for a preliminary hearing.

Wilson forfeited $100 bail on several traffic counts arising out of his escapade during which, according to witnesses, he drove onto the First Street sidewalk in vain pursuit of Vail, who recently won a $28 judgment against Wilson for unpaid taxi fares.

DEMOS RALLY FOR TRUMAN VISIT HERE

President Truman's "whistle stop" in Niles this Sunday will be the signal for a gathering of Democratic brass in Southern Alameda County, it was announced today.

The President's campaign train makes a brief halt at the Western Pacific depot at 10:30 a.m., Democratic headquarters in San Francisco and Hayward have announced.

Scheduled to head the welcoming committee are Charles A. Russell and Judge E. A. Quaresma of Niles. Out of courtesy to the Nation's Chief Executive, a color-guard from the Township Veterans' Council will be on hand.

Auto caravans from as far as San Leandro and Castro Valley are scheduled to drive here for Mr. Truman's only stop in the Southern part of the county. Preparations to greet the President also are being made by several unions, it is reported.

Hospital Bonds

"If you people don't want the hospital," cried Alameda, "turn it down and we'll dissolve the district."

Allan Hirsch then moved approval of the November 4 ballot issue, and the approval was given without a dissenting vote.

Centerville's Chamber of Commerce okehed the measure Monday on motion of Judge Allen G. Norris.

Decoto and Hillview Crest residents are scheduled to hold a meeting Tuesday to consider the matter.

FARM MEETING

"Nutrient Levels in Apricots as Affected by Early Pruning," "Dirty Apricots and Their Cause" and "Walnut Diseases" will be discussed by Al Rizzi, extension service specialist in pomology from Davis, next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Visual Aids room at Washington Union High School.

Answer to this week's "Guess Who": Joe Boliba, Niles.

KEEP COOL, WE'VE GOT YOUR NUMBER

The Township will get house numbers, but it probably will take another four to five months.

This word was passed to the Irvington Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday by Robert J. Wright, chairman of the County Planning Commission, which had been asked to supply numbers for Irvington.

When several members complained, Wallace Pond replied for Wright:

"This is a transitional area and we have to understand we can't get services on a platter like they do in a city. It's better to have this thing co-ordinated by the Planning Commission and have it done right than to go off half-cocked and get it all wrong."

IRVINGTON SPEED ROUSES C. OF C. IRE

"The highway is a speedway through town," commented Chamber President Walter Connolly "They go through here at 55 and 60 miles per hour or faster. And the Highway Patrol tells us they're undermanned and can't do much about it."

J. R. Baxter suggested that the Chamber get an official note of helplessness from the Highway Patrol, then act to get protection from the sheriff's office. He said this is permitted under State law.

Connolly named Baxter, Wallace Pond and Speed Baker to push the issue.

TOWN MEETING AT NILES ON OCTOBER 13

Girls of the Barnard School have formed a baby-sitting service for the Hillview-Decoto area, according to Robert Infelise, vice-principal of the Barnard School. A local housewife will be asked to teach a short class in baby-sitting, Infelise said.

The Youngsters' Club at Decoto School, composed of fourth and fifth graders, are planning a skating party next Wednesday night, according to Tom Tuttle, faculty advisor.

Decoto School on Tuesday trimmed Centerville School, 12-0, in a practice flag-football match. Fred Sanchez scored the initial touchdown. The Flag Football League starts next Thursday, according to Alfred Pinard, faculty advisor.

HOLD 4th 'LURE' SUSPECT HERE

He is John W. Wood, 21, of 320 Broadway, Irvington, who was linked to the August 15 crime when Deputy Sheriff Tom Bunting found Wood's car abandoned near the Centerville county building. It answered the description of one used in the robbery.

Wood was arraigned Tuesday and will appear in court again today. Sheriff's Captain R. E. Condon said both Wood and Harold Prink, 23, of Decoto, arrested earlier, have confessed holding Satina at gunpoint, then slugging him to get $140.

Prink and a Niles waitress, Betty Giles, 20, one of two girls who assertedly lured Santina to a lonely spot near Mission San Jose, will be arraigned October 30. Prink is in an Oakland veterans' hospital.

Fish Story

Deputy Sheriff Larry White and his family were in Humboldt county last week on a hunting and fishing expedition. They had excellent luck—a deer and a fish. The fish—a trout—was the best prize. When one of his friends offered to freeze it for him, the deputy declined, saying it "was not an eatin' fish, but a braggin' fish," so he was going to hold on to it to show around. It was that big!

Surprise Party

Arthur Belshaw of Centerville had expected the Lyle Shorts of Alameda to come down to help celebrate his birthday last Saturday evening. So it turned out to be a real surprise party for Art. The evening was spent playing cards.

Y.R.'s Meet Monday

Young Republicans of Washington Township will meet next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Visual Education room of Washington Union High School.

Superintendent J. V. Goold will present the reasoning behind the current high school bond issue.

Proponents of several measures appearing on the November 4 ballot will summarize the issues for the voter. The public is invited to attend in the interests of better government, according to Jack P. Lee, YR president.

The business meeting following this non-partisan speakers' agenda will include plans for a rally and parade to be held in Washington Township on November 3.

POWER OFF AS FOG HITS NEWARK LINE

Most of Washington Township and communities north to San Leandro blacked out for three hours last Sunday when a 110,000-volt power line short-circuited in dense fog and fell across two other lines in the PG&E's Newark substation.

District Manager Peter Juhl said PG&E employees worked 'round the clock to restore full power by Tuesday. Meantime emergency facilities took care of the load. However, power was off in most local towns between 5:10 a.m. and 8:20 a.m.

Juhl said the local PG&E office and even the Oakland office were swamped with telephone inquiries about the blackout.

Affected was the 110,000-volt Moraga line. It fell across lines leading to Stockton and to the Pacific States Steel mill. However the mill was able to switch to an auxiliary line.

Youth Center Opens

The Youth Center at Irvington, closed during the summer, will open again Wednesday, October 8, to all teen-agers of the township, with a full program of recreation planned for the winter months.

Rosalie Rogers, Centerville school teacher, has been engaged as the new recreation director.

During the hours from seven to ten o'clock, the teen-agers will be able to participate in folk dancing, ping-pong, and a number of other recreational activities.

The Center, on the school grounds, will be open every Wednesday evening.

Looking Backward

20 YEARS AGO
(Township Register, Oct. 6. 1932)

Arrival of Night Patrolman Arthur Roderick on the scene prevented burglars from escaping with a safe taken from the Southern Pacific station which they had broken into Monday morning.

"The country will be confronted this winter with one of the severest situations in many years in providing employment relief," Supervisor Ralph Richmond told members at the Niles Chamber of Commerce at a noon meeting.

With a goal of $700 for the Washington Township Boy Scout budget, teams of workers will meet at 7:30 p.m., October 17, at Centerville, upon the call of Dr. G. S. Holeman, chairman of the Scout finance committee.

The report of Walter W. Bradley, state mineralogist, reveals the interesting facts that each year Alameda County produces minerals to the value of $2,417,900.

Adeline Santos, Centerville postmistress, will leave Saturday to attend the 27th annual convention of the National League of District Postmasters to be held in Washington, D. C., during the latter part of October.

Everett Mendenhall, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mendenhall of Niles, qualified for the highest award of rank made by the Boy Scouts of America, the Eagle Badge.

10 YEARS AGO
(October 2, 1942)

Morgan Gesari has been made a corporal and is stationed at Camp O'Connor in Texas. Frank Cesari is in South Dakota, Henry is in Australia, and David is at Camp Holm, near Riverside.

Albert Pine of the U. S. Coast Guard visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pine last week. He left last Saturday for New York City where he will be going to school for three months. He is now a first class seaman.

W. A. Baldwin of the Niles rural district gets the gold star for bringing in the first donation of scrap metal to the Victory Scrap Metal pile, situated on the lot in the rear of The Township Register building.

It's a date for nearby business men and others to enjoy their annual luncheon on the California Nursery grounds this Saturday from noon until 1:30 p.m. as the ladies of Toyon Branch of Children's Hospital serve their annual Victory benefit luncheon at the Old Adobe.

WOMEN SEE NEED OF TRACT CENTERS

Every new subdivision coming to the Township should set aside a piece of land for recreational, educational, and religious facilities, is the opinion expressed by the Women for Better Government at a meeting held at the Niles Library last week.

The women voted to send a letter to the Alameda County Planning Commission expressing their approval of a proposed ordinance to this effect, in a recent survey made here of juvenile delinquency.

At their next meeting, the women will have a well-known speaker who will discuss the propositions to appear on the ballot in the November election. More details of this meeting will be announced soon. It is known, however, that it will be open to the general public.

Mrs. Harold Korell is chairman of the group.

GOT PROBLEM? ASK FARM ADVISORS

What insect is this? How do I control crab grass? When can irrigated pasture best be planted? What disease does my apricot tree have? Those and many other agricultural questions can be answered through the farm advisor's office, located in the basement of the Post Office Building in Hayward.

People with problems to be solved receive immediate answers if they visit the farm advisor's office, or if they make an appointment to visit there on the day that the farm advisor handling that field work is present.

Stanley Coates, farm advisor in charge of poultry, field crops and weeds holds office hours on Tuesday. Clair Willits, head of the dairy program and 4-H Club agricultural program and in charge of soils information, takes calls on Wednesday. Lee Benson, director of the county office and in charge of the fruit crops, truck crops and entomology, will be in the farm advisor's office on Thursdays. Walter Johnson, livestock specialist and in charge of pasture and irrigation takes calls on Fridays.

Anyone wishing agricultural information can obtain an answer or get action toward the eventual answer by contacting by a visit, a telephone call, or a letter the farm advisor's office, Post Office Building, corner of C and Watkins Streets, Hayward. The telephone number is LUcerne 1-2446.

FUTURE FARMERS ON RADIO SHOW

A pair of Washington Hi Future Farmers will take to the air waves Saturday morning in the first of a series of FFA programs planned by San Francisco's Station KGO.

The prospective interview-ees are LeRoy Brown of Newark and Kiyoshi Katsumoto of Decoto. Together with their faculty advisor, William Raap, they will appear on a half-hour program starting at 10:30 a.m. and produced by KGO's Bill Adams.

Katsumoto is president of the Centerville FFA, while Brown is to leave October 10 with 40 other California Future Farmers for the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo. Brown was picked after winning honors in the local chapter's public speaking contest last February.

'YES' ON H. S. BONDS

Endorsement of the $1,500,000 high school bond issue was voted last week by the Niles Chamber of Commerce. An okeh also came from the Washington Township Sportsmen's Club, following a talk by Larry Silva.

TV NEWS

By WES SEARS

A long-expressed contention of ours that there are no "bad" television programs for children has been backed by a Connecticut school psychologist, Edward A. Ricciuti, in one of his most recent monographs.

Thousands of children were given questionnaires to fill out and although it was found that 90 per cent of them watched comedy-variety and crime drama programs, no evidence was at hand that crime and adventure programs developed undesirable emotional trends. It was concluded that what a child gets out of television depends on what he has been conditioned to look for. So we believe, after all, that it's merely a question of proper education.

A few years back and even more recent than that, at television serviceman (when he didn't take your set which needed repairs into the shop) used to make an all-day visit because of the laborious task of dismantling a set. Those all-day "tea sessions" are definitely a thing of the past. TV sets now have easily removable safety glass and picture tubes that a serviceman can detach and replace in a few moments. The important parts are easily reachable and average repairs made quickly. This is important to set owners, of course, in that service costs are greatly reduced.

There will be long hours in the winter months ahead where television can bring untold pleasure to children. Come in now and select your set . . . RCA Victor . . . Hoffman . . . Admiral.

WHERE'S THAT PLAN?

Once again recent events impel us to hoist our battle flag in favor of Township planning, against those who oppose it, and against those who sabotage it by inaction. The past week has shown it as clearly as anyone could wish. Where there is no plan setting aside land for homes, for stores, for factories—and for gravel pits—the outcome is war. And war, in the growth of a community, is just as profitless and indecisive as war in Korea or the Indo-Chinese jungles.

Orderly zoning, arrived at by lawful and democratic processes in which the greater good prevails, can prevent this conflict. But before there can be restrictive zoning, there must be a master plan to guide it. Otherwise zoning is a piecemeal makeshift, without regard to future needs, to community growth, to economical construction of public roads.

Once more this newspaper demands of the Alameda County Planning Commission that it present a master plan for Washington Township. Each day that goes by makes the job more difficult, more expensive. Now is the time, before toadstool growth overwhelms us. Shake off the spiderwebs, honorable commissioners. Shake them off now, now, NOW!

IT CAN'T BE!

With bitterness and grief, Newark's Civil Defense chief this week announces he must close the air-spotter post for lack of volunteer observers. Somehow it isn't like Newark.

That hustling town isn't all to blame, of course. Spotters are drawn from all over the Township. Theirs is a thankless task, but then who needs to be thanked for keeping vigil over his home, any more than a mother needs thanks for watching over a sleeping child?

Civil defense is no glamor job. The Cold War is going to be a long and grimy affair, it seems. Because that's how Russia figures to soften us up for the sneak punch—to wear down the nation it despises as a nest of TV fans and jitterbugs.

Somehow this week-end a lot of those TV fans are going to get their backs up and man that Newark post!

A WEEK FOR NEWSPAPERS?

Every dog has his day, and now every industry has its week. This one happens to be dedicated to newspapers, through some process of promotion we don't entirely understand. Rest easy, reader. We will spare you a lullaby on a linotype. This is a lament for a lost ideal.

When we were in short pants, the yardstick for truth was: "It must be so—I read it in the paper." Nowadays the fashion has gone full-circle and the saying goes: "Can't believe a thing you read."

Some of the newspapers which are blowing the trumpet the loudest this week are most to blame for this melancholy turnabout. Their publisher has donned his stuffed shirt, broken bread with the mighty, and identified himself with the movers-and-shakers. He has used his news columns to promote private hobbies, or to push the public into feuds in which he is an obviously-interested stiletto-bearer. He has forfeited public confidence. Who believes a crank, an apple-polisher?

Dollar newspapering has been the worm in the apple. Many big cities have only one daily paper now. Monopoly is tremendously profitable for the newspaper. But it breeds "business-at-any-price," and this risks the identity, the sense of common cause that used to exist between publisher and public. Too often this brand of publisher allies himself with the powerful, not with the man whose wrongs need a champion. Truman seized on this issue in 1948, to good advantage. He used the monopolists to discredit a whole profession.

Truman ignored the fact that most of America's newspapers have kept faith. They still provide the people's best defense against corrupt and power-hungry officialdom. Today good newspapers are the last effective check on those who seek to regiment the spirit and standardize the individual. A few have sold out for favors, but the majority of our papers still can rise and meet a clear-cut challenge to liberty.

To that gallant company we aspire. Our highest aim is to be worthy of our readers' respect. If we have that, not just one week but every week in the fifty-two will be a cause for celebration.

MYSTERY MAN WAS BORN IN HAWAII

Did you have any trouble guessing the identity of last week's "mystery man?" No? Good! Then you already know it was Clifford Dennis of Niles. Now see what you can do with this week's. If you can't guess who he is, look through the paper. You'll find the answer.

He was born in Hawaii.

As a boy he worked in the cane sugar fields, first as a "water boy." This entailed carrying buckets of water to the men in the fields. Later he loaded the sugar cane, and still later got a job in the store on the same plantation.

He remembers quite vividly the exciting life on the island of Maui, which, he says, is the best island of the group for climate. During his childhood he became adept at spearing fish, quite a sport in Hawaii.

In mingling with the different nationalities of people who worked on the sugar plantation he learned to speak Portuguese, Spanish, Italian, and several dialects of Japanese and Filipino.

When he was 21 years of age, he, his mother (his father had died) and his eight brothers and sisters moved over here to the States. They settled in Decoto.

He took a job on the Fred Trask place, in the tomato fields. When cherries were ripe, he picked cherries on the Russo ranch.

Then he opened a "hamburger joint" in Decoto, the only one in the town at the time. This business lasted for two years.

Then he got a job in a store in Ashland. This also lasted for two years. He then took a job in a store in Decoto, working for a man who later became his father-in-law.

He prospered enough so that he was able to buy a wholesale produce firm in Oakland. In conjunction with this, he ran a retail produce store at the Sixth Street market in Oakland.

Since 1941 he has owned a business in the township. He has done so well at it that he says he would never want to be in any other business.

His hobby, if it can be called that, is horses. He owns two horses that have made money for him—and also lost him some. He is planning on giving up horses in the near future, and that will leave football as his major interest, outside of his business and his family. (He has four boys.)

Guess who!

Where's the Fire?

Saturday, September 27, Warm Springs, 6:30 p.m., auto fire on Highway 17; Niles, 1:15 p.m., residence at Cobble Crest Ranch.

Sunday, September 28, Newark, 1:45 p.m., grass fire on Lincoln Road. Centerville, 5:50 p.m., auto fire on Highway 17.

Monday, September 29, Irvington, 11 a.m., grass fire on High Street.

Tuesday, September 30, Decoto, 3:47 p.m., residence at 404 Seventh Street.

Fancy or Fact

A ONE-ACT PLAY

Cast of Characters:
Two archaeologists
Time: The year 3500 A.D.
Place: The study of an archaeologist.

Scene opens with the archaeologists talking together.

First Archaeologist: This is an amazing discovery you've made, this excavation of the ruins of Southern Alameda County.

First Arch: H'mm. It was long past the Ice Age, so it couldn't have been a glacier. Nor was there a plague at that time. Maybe it was an atomic bomb.

Second Arch: You might be right. Anyway, let's turn on the space television. We may be able to get something. Let's see. Civilization in that area probably became extinct around the year 1955. (He turns a knob on the space television.) I'll dial to that year. (The two men sit back, watching the space television.)

First Arch: Yes! Those are human figures. They are loading things on strange-looking conveyances. What did they call them?

Second Arch: Automobiles, I believe.

First Arch: You're right. They are taking pieces of furniture from their homes. Wait! There is something strange about those homes!

Second Arch: I see what you mean. They are strange indeed. They seem to be built on the brink of high cliffs. (He jumps up excitedly.) Look! It's coming in clearer now. Look at those precipices! They lead down to huge pits! There are miles and miles of them.

First Arch: No wonder the people are moving out! Whatever it is that dug those pits is undermining their foundations.

Second Arch: You're right! Wait a minute. See that piece of equipment over there—to the left? There's the reason! It's digging! Digging!

First Arch: Why would they be digging up good land? I know it was good because, in my excavation I've discovered farm implements, a sure indication that the soil was fertile.

Second Arch: I don't know. There were no known gold deposits in that area. I'd say they were digging for gravel. It was used extensively in those days. (He shakes his head sadly.)

First Arch: I don't get it! What would motivate such a destruction of good earth, and of a whole community?

Second Arch: Human nature was the same then, as it is today. Money. That's your answer.

First Arch: I see what you mean. (He gets up and walks toward the space television.) I'm going to turn this blasted thing off. It's making me nervous, watching those houses teetering.
